Corum, Montpellier, France

Nov 9-10, 2021

<http://fsscr.fr/meeting21>

The FSSCR is a scientific non-profit society created in 2016 to federate French stem cell research professionals. The FSSCR has more than 450 members and welcomes them every year during its annual meeting, which represents the opportunity for the French stem cell research community to meet and share their work. For the 2021 edition, which will take place in the prestigious Corum de Montpellier, several "sponsor" booths will be available around the scientific posters, to ensure maximum interaction with the participants. Going to the annual FSSCR congress is a way to be known and recognized by many experts in the field of stem cells. Whichever way you choose to participate, your support of the FSSCR will be appreciated and passed on to all our members.
